

The achievements of the aquatics community were celebrated at the annual ASA Aquatics Awards 2016, held at Birmingham University's Great Hall, on Saturday 26 November, and the West Midland Region picked up five awards.

The Awards recognised the vast contribution of individuals and organisations from across all areas of the sport and it is also an opportunity to celebrate the many achievements within the aquatics community.

The afternoon was filled with inspiring stories showing the dedication of volunteers, coaches, teachers, participants, athletes and aquatic professionals. This was the second year of the ASA Aquatics Awards and included nineteen categories.

Hosted by ASA Group Board Chairman, Mike Farrar, the Awards were presented by Paralympic Champion Ellie Robinson, and Olympic bronze medallist Daniel Goodfellow.

Congratulations to our West Midlands winners:

- Young Volunteer of the Year (Silver) – Jordan Lakin (Blythe Barracudas)
- Achievement Award for Senior Participant (Silver) – Arthur Lowe (Birmingham Masters)
- School Swimming Charter for Primary School of the Year (Silver) – St. Barnabas C.E.

Primary School Worcester

- Club Network of the Year (Silver) - Shropshire Club Network
- Swim School of the Year (Silver) – Diamond Swim Academy

You can read the full story with the list of winners here - ASA Aquatics Awards 2016